

RUSS AGREE TO RELEASE YANKS FROM PRISONS

Soviets Eager to Secure American Food to Relieve Great Famine.

READY FOR NEGOTIATIONS

Trotsky Thinks War Will Force European Nations to Donate Food.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—First steps to relieve starving Russians were taken Monday with receipt of assurances that American prisoners would be released by the soviet authorities.

The promises to release the prisoners came to Secretary of Commerce Hoover in a cable from Maxim Gorky. Gorky's cable was a reply to a recent one by Hoover that relief would be held up as long as Americans were imprisoned.

Immediately after receiving the cable Hoover instructed Lyman Brown, European director of the American relief administration in London, to proceed to Riga, but to withhold opening of discussions until American prisoners are actually delivered out of Russia.

Gorky's reply to Hoover's message, dated London follows:

"Riga transmits the following from Maxim Gorky, presented by representative soviet government in Latvia. 'July 28, I have transmitted your proposal to the soviet government seeing that the soviet government alone can discuss the conditions there. I have received from the soviet government the following reply for transmission to you:

Accept Proposal

"The Russian government has acquainted itself with the proposal of Mr. Hoover, made in the name of the American relief administration and finds the proposal quite acceptable as to a basis including the release of the American prisoners. The Russian government considers desirable as soon as possible to fix the precise conditions on which this association (the American Relief Association) will begin immediate negotiation of its humane intentions to guarantee the feeding, medical treatment and clothing of a million children and invalids. For that purpose the Russian government would consider it useful that director Brown or another person invested with full powers should carry out negotiations and should immediately come to Moscow, Riga or Revel. The Russian soviet government awaits a speedy reply as to the place and date of these negotiations."

Trotsky Urges War

Berlin.—War on Poland and the rest of Europe to escape the famine is urged by the soviet war minister, Leon Trotsky, according to Russian dispatches received here Monday.

The messages said Trotsky in public speeches advanced the idea that war would compel other European countries to furnish food.

Trotsky declared that the fear of war in Europe's present condition would compel other countries to relieve the famine district by donating supplies, the report said.

While the famine continued unabated today and thousands were dying, the plague situation was emphasized in reports received here. Both cholera and typhus were said to be spreading among the weakened drought victims.

ENGLAND WILL LOSE IF GERMANY PAYS WAR DEBT

By United Press Leased Wire
London, Eng.—Frank A. Vandenberg, American financier, in an interview with the United Press declared Monday:

"Germany's payment of indemnity claims will gravely endanger England's economic life."

Vandenberg explained the paradox when he added:

"Germany can pay her debts only by selling her labor. That's all she has. If she succeeds in doing that it will mean that she will be filling up the market to which England must export her higher priced goods, so she will not suffer if Germany pays the indemnity. Economic laws are as irresistible as gravity and the intricate machinery of economic trade is wrenched out of working order at this moment."

SUPREME COUNCIL WILL DISCUSS RUSS FAMINE

By United Press Leased Wire
London, Eng.—The allied supreme council will discuss the Russian famine at its next meeting, Prime Minister Lloyd George informed the house of commons Monday.

Lloyd George said that the supreme council will meet Aug. 8 and that both Germany and Poland get "a perfectly straight deal," in the settlement of the Silesian question.

He told the house that he had no knowledge whatever of reported concentrations of war materials on the Rumanian and Polish boundary lines where they could be used in an anti-typhus campaign.

Sid Hatfield Slain In Fight With Sleuth

BELIEVE BADGER WAS SLAIN 8 YEARS AGO

By United Press Leased Wire
Colby, Wis.—Another mystery was added to the many surrounding the death of John Demmer, tenant on the Fred Kolze "mystery farm" in Cook county, Illinois, Monday when it was discovered the headstone marking the grave in the country cemetery here had been removed to the side of the cemetery lot.

Records of the cemetery are vague as to the location of the grave and Chicago officials, to arrive here today to exhume the body, buried eight years ago, may have difficulty in locating the grave.

Demmer's body is to be exhumed by orders of Coroner Peter Hoffman of Chicago who believed Demmer died from arsenic poisoning.

Investigation of an alleged poison plot followed the death of Fred Kolze in June in Cook county. Exhumation of the body showed quantities of arsenic had been administered to him. The body of his wife, Etta, was exhumed and the cause of death determined as arsenic poisoning. Coroner Hoffman believed, he said, Demmer's body will show the cause of his death to be from arsenic.

Mrs. Frieda Demmer, widow of John Demmer and housekeeper for Kolze, is to be questioned by the state's attorney's office in Cook county relative to the three deaths, it was announced by officials.

Noted Chief of Police During Matewan Mine War Is Killed After Emptying Revolver at Hostile Crowd in West Virginia Town.

By United Press Leased Wire
Welch, W. Va.—Sid Hatfield of Matewan mine war fame, met a better gunman today.

Hatfield and a friend, Ed Chambers, were shot dead in the courthouse yard here by C. E. Lively, a detective. Lively, it is said, engaged in an argument with Hatfield and his companion, and was "quicker on the draw" as Hatfield made a move to reach for his revolver.

Hatfield and Chambers with 15 other union mine workers from Mingo county went to Welch early Monday to answer to an indictment charging them with shooting up the town of Mingo last year.

They were arrested in Matewan last week by Sheriff Bill Hatfield of McDonald county and brought to the jail here for safe keeping.

When the Mingo county men reached Welch they met Lively and a number of his sympathizers. A hot argument led to a bullet battle. Shooting from the steps of the county courthouse here, Hatfield and Chambers are reported to have emptied their brace of revolvers. Others on their side also engaged in the skirmish.

With their revolvers emptied they were easy victims for the hostile shots and Chambers and Hatfield were both filled with bullets, the report here said.

Following the fray, Lively and four others were placed under arrest and charges of murder preferred.

HARDING SEES NEW ORDER IN WORLD CHAOS

World Is Recovering From Disarrangements of War, President Says.

WELCOMES NEW THEORIES

America Must Keep Feet on Earth, While Striving to Better World.

By Raymond Clapper
Plymouth Rock Amphitheatre, Plymouth, Mass.—The United States will carry on the work begun by the Pilgrim fathers, President Harding declared Monday, standing beside his tomb in Plymouth rock.

After describing the beginning of freedom wrought in bitter struggle by those earliest colonists, President Harding gave voice to the new hope that stirred him today.

"We are slowly but very surely recovering from the wastes and sorrows and utter disarrangements of a cataclysmal war," he said. "Peace is bringing its new assurances, and penitence has emptied their brace of revolvers. Others on their side also engaged in the skirmish."

With their revolvers emptied they were easy victims for the hostile shots and Chambers and Hatfield were both filled with bullets, the report here said.

Following the fray, Lively and four others were placed under arrest and charges of murder preferred.

Though welcoming new theories, the president cautioned against ignoring the lessons of experience.

"We stand today before the unknown, but we look to the future with confidence unshaken," he said.

"We welcome the theories wrought out in new hope, but we cling to the assurances founded on experience."

"It is good to keep our feet firmly on earth though we gaze in high hope for human brotherhood and high attainments."

The practical mind of the pilgrims now guide our aspirations as it did theirs, President Harding warned.

TEXT OF SPEECH

Plymouth Rock Amphitheatre, Plymouth, Mass.—President Harding's speech at the pilgrim tercentenary pageant here Monday follows:

Though they seem comparatively measureless to us, three centuries are little more than a moment in the scheme of human history. Christianity is now rounding out its twentieth century, and there is no comprehensible measure to the human ferment which went before. Our actual national life is less than half the period of marvelous new world development, the tercentenary of which we celebrate, but in that little while the achievement is the most significant of all the centuries. It is not too much to say that the three centuries which have passed since men of our race came here to found a new state have been the most momentous and the most pregnant in all the progress of human kind.

Destiny Pointed Way

To this and the Virginia shore were transplanted the seeds of representative democracy, the new ideals of nationality through association and there has developed, seemingly, the most dependable form of popular government ever witnessed in the world. Perhaps this larger achievement was not intended by the heroes of colonization. They were seeking freedom and found nationality essential to its preservation. The Santa Maria, the monster seaplane which recently stopped in Milwaukee enroute to the Pageant of Progress in Chicago, and two other airplanes, will be used in the service. The Santa Maria made the trip from Milwaukee to Chicago in 65 minutes. Three to five passengers will be carried and the fare will be $50 each.

O'CONNOR, GUNMAN, SAYS HE DIDN'T KILL COP

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—The trial date for Tommy O'Connor, charged with the murder of Detective Sergeant Patrick O'Neill, will be set Friday.

Judge Hugo Pam in criminal court this morning announced he would set the date for O'Connor's trial when the alleged gunman entered a plea of not guilty, when court convened Monday morning.

There was no demonstration when O'Connor was brought into court, heavily guarded.

O'Connor was recently captured in St. Paul following an attempt to hold up a Chicago, Great Western passenger train.

SMALL CONTINUES ROAD "INSPECTION"

By United Press Leased Wire
Kankakee, Ill.—Governor Len Small planned to continue his tour of inspection of Illinois state roads Monday, apparently ignoring the indictment which Sheriff Henry Mester is holding in Springfield charging the executive with embezzlement of large sums of state funds.

The governor spent Sunday with his family here. Preparations were made for Small to inspect roads in three counties during the early part of the week.

There were some reports that the governor might go to Springfield Wednesday or Thursday, but no intimation was forthcoming from the executive as to what his next step would be in his fight against the charges.

Sheriff Mester is content to bide his time and is waiting for the governor to come back to Springfield.

DEPOSITORS WILL NOT LOSE IN WRECK OF BANK

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Depositors of the Michigan Avenue Trust company will not lose a cent, it was learned here Monday.

Directors of the bank, which was looted by President Warren G. Spurgin, who has been missing eleven days, gave this information to the state's attorney's office.

The shortage of Spurgin, for whom a world-wide search is being made, may run as high as $1,500,000, directors said.

The directors are financially able to keep the bank running, the state said. The making up of the shortage may serve to prevent indictment of the officials, whom the state charges are involved because deposits were accepted after it was known that the president had disappeared with most of the cash.

CHAUFFEUR KNOWS ABOUT DEATH OF WEALTHY GIRL

New York.—Richard Potter, chauffeur, may throw new light Monday on the death of Sarah Cowan.

The police say she is the daughter of the late John K. Cowan, former president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Sunday morning found her dead, from drugs police said, in a hotel here where she had registered with Potter as his wife.

Potter left the hotel Sunday morning saying the woman with whom he shared a suite was not his wife. She was very ill, he stated. Doctors found her dead on arrival.

Potter, who has not been seen since he left the hotel, has telephoned the police he will come forward if required.

Ireland Accepts Home Rule Offer

NORTHCLIFFE MAY BE SETTING STAGE TO OUST PREMIER

British Feud Reaches Across Atlantic Ocean to American Capital.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.

Washington.—Lord Northcliffe has come and gone. And all Washington has settled back to discuss the news, which it has never encountered, still wondering how narrow the Atlantic ocean can be at times when criticisms of a newspaper publisher in a foreign country can touch official life in another capital, and give it an uneasy twenty-four hours.

If Lord Northcliffe had not been so free with his pen in writing about Prime Minister Lloyd George and Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, official Washington would have made a great social event of his visit. As it was, officials who had planned openly to show their friendship for a distinguished foreign publisher took their cue from the action of the British embassy, which made a last minute cancellation of a dinner that was to be given in honor of His Lordship.

Visited President

Lord Northcliffe did spend an hour and twenty minutes at the White House with President Harding, and also called on Secretary Hughes at the state department, but the visits were at the executive offices and at the state department building. Both were informal visits, such as might occur if any prominent American publisher paid his respects. There was every evidence of cordiality. Socially, however, the government took no part in any entertainment, as might otherwise have been the case. Relations between governments are too often strained by mistakes of etiquette. It is still insisted in some quarters that one of the chief reasons why Viscount Edward Gray was not received by President Wilson during his special visit to the United States was the fact that Viscount Gray mingled socially with political opponents of Mr. Wilson in the senate.

Notwithstanding the obvious delicacies of the situation, Lord Northcliffe had a very good time, and official Washington relished his visit, especially because of the unusual atmosphere it created. The newspaper men of Washington, feeling no such restraints as affect the government in such a situation, gave His Lordship perhaps the most distinctive entertainment in the capital. This may have been inspired by a professional admiration for a man who ousted one ministry and transformed the entire conduct of the war by Great Britain, or it may have been the result of splendid impressions which Lord Northcliffe had made among those who know that he never permits words of unfriendly criticism of the United States to be printed in any of the scores of newspapers which he owns and controls. Any way, it seemed fitting that this visitor, whose sincerity as a friend of the United States has never been doubted, should be given some token of the widespread appreciation in which he is held here. It so happened that the only ones in Washington who were able to manifest openly their regard for Northcliffe were the newspaper men.

How it Started

Although Washington is not familiar with the niceties of English politics, the impression given by the Northcliffe party is that the recent outbreak of hospitality on the part of the British government grew out of a suggestion in one of the Northcliffe papers that the British delegation to the forthcoming disarmament conference at Washington should be composed of men who understand the American people. The Northcliffe editorials plainly disapproved of the idea that Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, should be a member of the delegation, contending that he was of a British type not suited for such an important mission.

Similarly, the Northcliffe press has argued against the proposed departure of Prime Minister Lloyd George from England, and has used practically the same arguments against his coming to America as were employed in the effort to dissuade President Wilson from going to Europe at the time of the peace conference. The Northcliffe idea seems to be that home affairs are in much too critical a condition to be

RELEASE IRISH PRISONERS

Ulster to Have Separate Parliament Until Different Terms Are Made.

By Charles M. McCann
Dublin.—Settlement of the Irish question awaits only a formal announcement, according to authoritative information here Monday.

"President" De Valera and his cabinet were said to have accepted an enlarged offer from Great Britain which will make Ireland a republic in everything but name.

Ulster's position was reported to have been settled by permitting her to maintain a subordinate parliament until different terms can be arranged.

The cabinet's decision followed the return here yesterday of Art O'Brien from London. It was commonly reported he carried an important communication from Premier Lloyd George.

Before formal announcement of the agreement is made, it is expected that all members of the Irish parliament, the Dail Eireann, will be released and permitted to ratify the cabinet's decision. De Valera already had called for such a session for this week and arrangements previously had been made for release of those members still in prison.

Details of the settlement were withheld but the basis of it is that Ireland is to have the standing of a dominion with even greater powers than Canada, it was stated.

Art O'Brien's mission in London was carefully guarded. On his return here yesterday he was in conference with De Valera.

It is now believed that De Valera will return to London the latter part of the week, possibly Thursday.

PEACE PROGRESS ON WAR ANNIVERSARY

America and Germany Are Reaching a Decision on Treaty of Amity.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Important peace moves were under way here Monday on the seventh anniversary of the beginning of the world war.

Secretary Hughes in cooperation with representatives of other world powers here, expected to make progress toward setting a formal date for the opening of the world disarmament conference and arranging other preliminary details for those parties.

Also progressing toward results are the conversations between Ellis Loring Dredel, American commissioner in Berlin, with German officials over the question of orally establishing a state of peace between the two nations and working out a treaty.

As announced, the making of a separate treaty of peace with Germany instead of adopting a much amended Versailles treaty now seems certain. The separate treaty, however, is expected to approximately some of the economic clauses of the Versailles pact.

The conversation between Dredel and German officials has as an object the smoothing away of obstacles in a quick agreement to a treaty.

Proceeding the treaty will be a proclamation of peace by President Harding. He may make this proclamation from Lancaster, N. H., where he is going for a ten day vacation.

$50,000 LOSS CAUSED BY CONDUIT EXPLOSIONS

By United Press Leased Wire
Minneapolis, Minn.—Explosions in cable circuits on Nicollet avenue Saturday night caused damage estimated at $50,000. At least fifty persons were injured by the force of the explosion and falling glass. Only a few were seriously hurt. The blasts started about 10 p. m. and continued until after midnight. There were eight heavy shocks and several minor ones. The actual cause of the explosions was never known. The general theory was that crossed wires set off sewer or illuminating gas that had seeped into the cable conduits.

APPLETON C. OF C. HAS MODERN IDEAS

Miss Mabel Sibley Returns From School for C. of C. Secretaries.

Miss Mabel Sibley, assistant secretary of the chamber of commerce, returned Sunday evening from Evansville, Ind., where she spent two weeks attending the national school for commercial secretaries at Northwestern University. She found that the Appleton chapter is following the most modern methods of conducting commercial secretaries and has adopted many of the plans which were offered as being the most up-to-date.

"We had excellent papers and group discussions on such topics as organization, program, finance, research, publicity, civic and commercial affairs, memberships, meetings, and office administration," said Miss Sibley. "We were kept busy each day from 8 to 4 o'clock with lectures and conferences, including the luncheon hour.

There were 190 people enrolled for the classes, of which 6 were women. They represented 32 states and some were present from Canada and Honolulu. Wisconsin had six people there.

Among the speakers and conference leaders were such men as Elliott H. Goodwin, resident vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, Harry A. Wheeler, president of the national chamber, and outstanding commercial secretaries such as S. C. Mead, New York; J. A. McKibben, Boston; R. B. Resch, Chicago; J. D. Larson, Omaha; Walter Parker, New Orleans; Ralph Eason, Des Moines, and Don Mowry, Madison. Opportunity was given for questions and discussion at the conferences conducted by some of these leaders.

Plan for 1922 School
Courses of reading were given those attending, in preparation for next year's school, which also will be held in Evansville. A newspaper entitled "The Secretary" was issued each day of the school, giving a review of the events and other items of interest. Printed copies of many of the lectures also were presented to the students.

"Quality rather than quantity in membership was emphasized as one of the essentials of a successful chamber," Miss Sibley said. "Commercial organizations are getting away from factory grabbing and are taking up community activities. I learned that Appleton is in the front rank as a model chamber of commerce, doing exactly the service prescribed. We use most of the ideas advanced for successful and largely attended forum meetings."

Amusement program were arranged every day after classes by the Evansville Chamber of Commerce and Chicago Association of Commerce. Complimentary banquets were held at Edgewater Beach hotel and the new Drake hotel, Chicago, and auto rides were given through Chicago's boulevard system and over Sheridan road. The students also visited the Pageant of Progress and were given a boat ride on the lake. Athletic events were in progress every day on the university campus.

FOUR DAYS IN JAIL FOR SHOOTING CRAP

For four long days, William Morphy and Ben Kleist are doomed to sit in the county jail and remonate on the possibilities and probabilities of crap shooting.

The two were taken before Judge Spencer in municipal court Monday morning charged with using "for the purpose of gaining, two dice, commonly known as 'crap'."

Judge Spencer pronounced a four days' jail sentence on each, with no alternative, and gave warning that a future repetition of the offense would incur a heavier penalty. The judge made it clear that persons found guilty of gambling with dice can expect no leniency in municipal court. Sheriff P. G. Schwartz is carrying the campaign against "crap shooting" to the uttermost parts of the county.

Morphy and Kleist were arrested at 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

FINED FOR DRIVING CAR WITH MUFFLER CUT OUT

Emil Drachenberg is the first automobile driver to be arrested by Edward Ratzman, motorcycle officer, in a campaign to stop the practice of driving machines in the city with the muffler open. He was demonstrating the noise-making qualities of his engine on College avenue Sunday night in violation of a city ordinance. Taken into municipal court Monday morning he paid a fine and costs amounting to $4.20 and was warned not to repeat the offense.

TWO AUTOISTS PAY DUES TO ENTER "SPEEDER CLUB"

Charged with driving their automobiles at a speed of 30 miles an hour on upper College avenue during a fire run Saturday afternoon, E. H. Wright and John Heenan were arrested by police officers who were responding to the alarm in the Black Marie. They reluctantly joined Judge A. M. Spencer's "speed club" in municipal court Monday morning and paid "dues" of $23.20 each.

MERGE WORK OF 2 LUTHERAN BODIES

Experiment Will Be Tried Here to Cement Luther League and Aid Association.

Appleton branch No. 1, Aid association for Lutherans, was successful in its meeting in St. Paul school Sunday afternoon in mapping out a plan by which its activities and those of the American Luther League may be merged, instead of organizing a new branch of the latter. R. A. Pieper, Clintonville, state secretary of the Luther league, attending the meeting and helped formulate a program.

Members of the aid branch were made associate members of the American Luther league, and will have the privilege of taking out active memberships in the national body without forming a local branch. Active members will pay dues of $2 a year, which will include a subscription to become active members.

The aid association and the Luther league have many activities in common, it was pointed out, especially along social lines, but the Luther league possesses no insurance feature. Mergers of the two therefore will provide educational, social and insurance features with only one organization, one local dues payment and one convention.

The plan is to be tried out in Appleton and then will be urged on other organizations in Wisconsin and eventually all over the United States. The American Luther league is about two Another Game to Be Played for City Baseball Championship.

The "Fats" won the first game but the "heavies" were determined to turn the trick and last Saturday afternoon put their determination into effect. "Tubby" Landgraf the "Fats" stellar pitcher, who had been suffering with a sore arm and shoulder was knocked out of the box in the third inning and George Thompson finished on the mound for the "Fats." Fountain Is Erected, Rubbish Cleared Away and Benches Installed.

Work of erecting a fountain in the new Hamilton park at Shiocton was completed Saturday. The park, which consists of about seven acres of picturesque land along the Wolf river was presented to the village recently by Mrs. Ina Hamlin and Rudolph Fisher.

Since the presentation men of the village have formed "bees" for Tuesday and Friday evenings to clear away the brush and make the necessary changes which have converted the area into an attractive picnic park. Benches and tables have been built to accommodate the people who already are in the habit of eating their lunches there. Swings have been placed for the children and a lawn swing for their elders.

Among the proposed plans for the park is a baseball diamond, a "swimming hole" in the river adds attractions to the spot for the small boys.

POLICE HERE SPOIL PLANS OF ELOPERS

An elopement of two Antigo young people was frustrated by the police Saturday night when Miss Hazel Kanzelberger, 17, and Raymond Bustwick, age about 27, were taken from a Chicago and Northwestern train at Appleton Junction and held by the police. The parents of the girl evidently opposed the marriage because the young lady was under age, although she claimed to be 18.

Authorities at Antigo telephoned the police station Saturday evening saying the couple had left on the 5:20 train and would arrive here about 8 o'clock. An officer searched the train when it reached the junction and found the eloping pair, who presumably were bound for Waukegan, Ill. Sheriff Euchen of Antigo called for the disappointed lovers Sunday and took them home.

Camp Committee
Details of the program for the boy scout camp at Onaway Island beginning Aug. 15 will be worked out at a meeting of the camp committee of Appleton Boy Scout council at 7:30 Tuesday evening in the headquarters office.

3 INJURED WHEN TIRE EXPLODES

Antigo Automobile Runs Into Ditch Near Black Creek Sunday Morning.

Three Antigo people were injured Sunday morning about 7 miles north of Black Creek when a tire on their automobile exploded and the machine ran into a ditch. The victims were attended by a physician and were able to continue their journey to Milwaukee by train.

The automobile was owned and driven by J. C. Lewis, Antigo. It contained his daughter, Mrs. Frank Pillsbury, a young man whose name was not obtained, and three children. It appears that Mr. Lewis lost control when the tire gave way, and was unable to stop until the car had left the road and was partially overturned. A boy of four years appeared to be the most seriously injured of the party. His spine was wrenched. Mrs. Pillsbury had a gash on her forehead and Mr. Lewis sprained his back. The others were uninjured.

Runaways Arrested Here
Two runaway boys, John Shedore, 17, Rhinelander, and Stephen Greutell, 17, Escanaba, Mich., were arrested in the Fourth ward Sunday morning and locked up in the city jail. Their parents have been notified of their whereabouts by Chief George T. Prim and are sending transportation for their return home.

BETTER WITNESSES TO BE DEMANDED AT CITIZEN HEARINGS

Naturalization Officer Objects to County Officers as Witnesses.

More competent witnesses are to be required for applicants for citizenship hereafter, following conferences between Attorney George N. Danielson, examiner for the United States Naturalization service and several circuit judges in the Ninth congressional district. The federal statute requiring two competent and credible witnesses to appear in court and recommend the applicant will be adhered to.

Men desiring citizenship often produce in court two witnesses who are relatives, sometimes two sons or brothers. Judges do not consider these to be desirable witnesses, because it becomes a delicate task to question a man's close relatives as to his character.

Witnesses other than county officers are preferred. Generally, a county officer knows a man only as he meets him on the street or in his office and knows nothing about his home life. Mr. Danielson says. County officers usually are too busy to remain in court all day attending hearings. Twelve applicants for citizenship in a northern county were disappointed when a county officer on whom they depended to testify left on a vacation the previous day. In another county an officer was embarrassed greatly when he learned that a man whom he had recommended for citizenship was found to be delinquent during the war. The examiner and his application denied.

Judges with whom Mr. Danielson conferred agreed that a man's neighbors are his best witnesses. They see him often and know his home life. Witnesses will be expected to answer questions as to character and home life in future hearings. If the witnesses cannot do this the judge will require others to be brought in who can.

A man applying for citizenship should be a man seeking a position.

APPLETON BOYS WIN HONORS AT ORCHARDS

Lion's Share of Prizes at Camp Goff Are Awarded to Local Cherry Pickers.

Appleton cherry pickers who spent 19 days at Camp Goff, Sturgeon Bay, returned Saturday morning after winning honors in cherry picking and inspection tests. The distinction of being the camp's champion cherry picker goes to Dudley Verwey who picked 211 quarts of cherries in one day and thus broke the camp record. His season's record is 2,086 quarts which is more than the accomplishment of any other boy at the camp.

Harold Podolinski group won honors for having the highest picking average which was $0.16 quarts per day for the season. The average of the entire camp was 62.12 quarts. Royal Lufko's group won the inspection banner in the annex dormitory and the banner for neatness in their hall was awarded to Orville Minister's group. Honors for having the best hall with a minimum record of 100 per cent was included in the awards made to Minister's group.

W. W. Brandenburg, general superintendent of the cherry pickers' camps, was the principal speaker at the annual banquet Friday evening in the dining hall which had been decorated with evergreen and ferns. Mr. Brandenburg praised the conduct of the boys in the camp. He said that of all the camps which included an enrollment of over 1,200 boys and girls Camp Goff had given him the least trouble.

The boys were not without their troubles. On the homeward trip they left behind many articles in their eagerness. Reports coming in to the boys' department at local Y. M. C. A. shops that everything from shirts to camp tents and other necessities were left at camp or on the depot platform at Sturgeon Bay. Melvin Tate of Kaukauna lost his entire pay check and has reported the matter to J. E. Dennison, asking him to have the banks stop payment on it.

EAGLES CANCEL CONTRACT WITH CARNIVAL COMPANY

Final arrangements for cancellation of the carnival which was to have been held in Appleton from Aug. 8 to 13, under auspices of the Eagles, were completed Friday. The contract has been canceled and the carnival will not come to Appleton.

Mayor J. A. Hawes recently vetoed a resolution of the common council to grant a license to the carnival to show here for a week.

Autos Damaged
While Theodore Sanders was turning his Ford sedan around at the corner of College-ave. and Walnut-st. Saturday evening, his machine was struck by an automobile driven by Myron Plotow. The rear fender of the Sanders machine was damaged, and front axle bent and a spring broken on the Plotow car. None of the occupants was injured.

CAR OPENS GARAGE DOOR!

The tired motorist doesn't have to climb out of the car and open the garage when he gets home. Not if he uses this device invented by a Brooklyn man. You drive the front wheel over a "trap door" (arrow) set in the driveway, and the weight on the plate releases a cable, opening the door.

RUSH OUT OF CHURCH TO CHASE AUTO THIEF

An exciting chase after an automobile thief broke up church services at Clark's Mills Sunday morning.

Services were going on when Frank Tuschels discovered that his automobile which he had parked beside the church was missing. Shortly afterward he saw the machine coming toward a cross road not far from the church. His shouts attracted the attention of the worshippers and they rushed out of church to join in the pursuit.

The thief became frightened by his pursuers and turned off the switch, but jumped out of the car while it was still traveling at a fast rate under momentum. He fled for the nearest field of tall corn, hoping to evade capture but he was finally discovered after the six-acre cornfield had been thoroughly "combed." He proved to be a mere 17-year-old boy who was working for a farmer in the neighborhood while on parole for other escapades. He trusted that he only "borrowed" the machine for an hour's ride.

DEDICATE PILLAR TO APPLETON MAN

University of Illinois Stadium to Honor Memory of Ralph
Tippet.

The new stadium in the University of Illinois will contain a pillar dedicated in honor of Ralph W. Tippet, son of the Rev. James H. Tippet of Appleton who was killed in action in France Sept. 12, 1915. The column for the Appleton soldier will be one of 153 which are being erected to alumni and students of the university who were killed in the World war.

According to plans for the construction of the stadium drawn up by the executive committee the memorial columns will be directly in front of the stadium gridiron and will encompass a court of honor which is planned to house a Greek theatre seating 10,000 people.

Besides individual columns in honor of those who died each of the 75,000 seats in the enormous building may be dedicated to soldiers and sailors of Illinois or the Illinois university who fought in the war.

The new stadium will cost an enormous sum of money. About $700,000 has already been raised and it is expected that more than $1,500,000 will be pledged in the nationwide campaign which will be put on during the coming football season.

LEGALIZING RAILROAD MERGERS
Mr. Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific's board of directors, points out in the "Council Table" section of the August World's Work the utility of the great transportation act passed by congress in February, 1920, which authorized the interstate commerce commission to prepare a plan for the consolidation of the railways of the United States into a limited number of systems. This act enables the commission to set aside the Sherman anti-trust law and permit, encourage or force consolidation of existing lines.
Offhand and on the face of it, considering the part consolidation has had in developing the great systems of the present day, a railroad head like Mr. Lovett would be expected to welcome legislation making possible further mergers of a type not dreamed of since 1890, when the Sherman law was passed. He is, however, totally opposed, both from the viewpoint of the railroad man and of the citizen.
He shows that the law's effect if carried out will be to force a well-located, wisely planned and constructed, and economically operated road to alter its rates and its returns to conform with those of a formerly competing line which was unwisely located and built without economic foresight. "The natural effect of the object thus sought," he writes, "would seem to be to lower the standard of credit, and therefore of service, of the strong lines and raise the standard of the weak to a common level."
After her experience with government operation America is pretty firmly convinced that she does not care for that kind of interference again. It is evident the larger and more efficient roads, if Mr. Lovett's view is typical, will not voluntarily consolidate. Forced consolidation through purchase of the entire railroad system of the country by the government, followed by reorganization and resale into private hands, presents difficulties which arise not only from the practical problems of values and of securing investors at the end of the experiment but from the temper of the American people, which is becoming more and more impatient of suggestions of a throttle on the competitive system.
NORTCLIFFE'S LOST DINNER
Lord Northcliffe will not get to dine in the British embassy at Washington with his old friend, Sir Auckland Geddes. He has made the social error—social, mind you—of a political attack on the persons now in power in the British government, through the columns of his paper, the London Times.
An editorial in that paper said that Lord Curzon, foreign secretary, wasn't fitted for the job of representing England at Mr. Harding's conference on disarmament. So far did editorial frankness extend that Lord Curzon's "pompous and pretentious manner and incapacity for business" were cited as good reasons why he would make a poor negotiator. David Lloyd-George was also opposed for the place. Just as Robert Lansing said in his book, and as many an observer both American and European said for himself, the editorial declared that Lloyd-George, particularly because of his peace conference methods, was the most distrusted of all statesmen in Europe.
So the Times gets cut off from some of its favored news sources by the government for a piece of courageous journalism which would have won applause if duplicated by any American newspaper. And Northcliffe's invitations to dine in his country's embassy are summarily withdrawn though it is probable that his American admirers will see to it that he is under no necessity of repairing to the Baltimore lunch.
"You see their fear of an on-sweeping democracy in their social treatment of party opponents," said Walter Page in one of his letters to President Wilson while serving as American ambassador in London. At heart—and Northcliffe has usually spoken from England's heart—the British empire is a democracy. But no event in recent years has proved so well as this broken dinner date the need of scratching off the wholly undemocratic surface.

THE WHITE SHEET MOVEMENT
Life has a number of phenomena which look better in the movies than in grim reality. Ku Klux Klanning is one of them.
When the knights of the white-robed Klan swept into the conclave glade in "The Birth of a Nation" we paid our tribute to a genuine sensation; but probably little of this pleasant thrill was the portion of the woman who was tarred and feathered at Tenaha, Tex., or of the numerous victims of an ignorant and lawless terrorism which has recently made a sweep of the extreme south, and in which there is no hint of chivalry.
The recent revival of the Ku Klux Klan by a Georgia idealist was to have been, at least in the language of its heralding, "a great American movement." The advertised fire upon the altar was soon found to be fiction, however, and the whole scheme merely the cloak for another manifestation of the mob spirit which is at the bottom of lynching bees and tar-and-featherings anywhere. The secret organization, no matter how ideal its beginnings, quickly became merely an instrument for satisfying personal hatreds and prejudices. It stands as another proof of the sure trend of affairs when the old American ideal of "a government of laws and not of men" is thrown in the discard.
The Texas legislature, now in special session, is to consider a resolution to investigate the activities of the Klan. Oklahoma City, Okla., reports a campaign to rehabilitate the city police by weeding out the Klan members who, it is claimed, form 50 per cent of the force. These are starters, but a more drastic antidote is evidently due for prescription. It is time the sordid, cowardly nature of the white sheet movement in the south be set forth so clearly that it can have no defenders with any claim to manhood.
A POSTPONED BILL
The country will be glad to know that the President desires the tax bill to be enacted in advance of the Fordney tariff bill, and that senate leaders have planned to hold the tariff bill in committee until the tax measure is out of the way. The result will be to leave the Fordney measure subject to indefinite delay. The more "indefinite" the delay the better will the country be satisfied. It was a great mistake, both from the point of view of statesmanship and of partisan politics, to push the tariff question to the front. In the first place, there is, as has been made clear, no general demand for tariff legislation, and there was no interest in the subject until it had been stirred up by the effort to put through such a dangerous bill as that which bears the Fordney name. In the second place, there could, as was recognized in the Republican platform last year, be no worse time for tariff legislation than the present. For with conditions as unsettled as they are it is impossible to enact any tariff that may not, as Senator Watson said, become obsolete in six months. And in the third place, the pushing of this business is almost certain to cause serious differences, and perhaps a split in the majority party. The best thing to do with the bill is to allow it to slumber quietly in the senate finance committee. If the slumber is never disturbed, the country will be the gainer.
TODAY'S POEM
By Berton Braley
THE SPORT.
He plays the game and plays to win
With all of his ability;
He takes his chance and plunges in
With vigor and agility;
Of knocks and bumps he takes his share,
And never whimpers fearfully;
He plays to win—but on the square,
Courageously and cheerfully!
And if he wins he won't grow vain;
And tell the world how good he is;
And if he fails, he won't complain
How much misunderstood he is;
But with an undiminished nerve
And with his heart aflame again,
He'll summon all his grit and nerve
And plunge back in the game again!
The sport! He faces fate with pluck
And cool and calm tenacity;
He will not blame Old Lady Luck
For his own incapacity.
The great wide world about him hums—
He tries to fit the plan of it;
He takes life largely as it comes
And makes the best he can of it!

(ANHEDONIA SERIES—10.)
Brace Up and Cheer Up.
This is another of a series of gossips on the subject of anhedonia—anhedonia—that incapacity for perfect happiness which the victim of slumped or sagging inwards does his best to enjoy. We have told nearly everything about anhedonia, or lack of the viscera, except the symptoms. The symptoms are, briefly—and the more briefly the better—for the victim to tell his or her own doctor. I'll confess we did print a choice list of the stigmata or marks of anhedonia in an earlier chapter of this tragedy, but with the utmost precaution against seizure by the symptom hounds.
The well high most hackneyed allusion appearing in this department refers to the great proportion of the total mass of blood in circulation that may remain practically out of circulation or stagnating in the vast network of blood vessels of the lower chest and abdomen, the splanchnic reservoir, in persons afflicted with false dignity, hatred, fear, or daily exercise, or the physiological senility which carries the role of cause and effect in a vicious circle or eddy that engulfs those who never do a morning roll or otherwise raise their heels higher than the seat of a chair. About thirty per cent of the blood of the body is thus permitted to shirk in the splanchnic pool when one cultivates the futile abdomen. Laugh, now, and the redder your face grows; the more physical training you need under the diaphragm. That blood flushing your face when you involuntarily pump up pressure on the splanchnic pool by laughing is blood temporarily forced into circulation by the labors of your diaphragm. In one of the earlier chapters of this sad story I mentioned that it is possible by voluntary contraction of the abdomen and elevation of the chest to lift the colon or stomach or other organ two or three inches (this is a physiological fact established by X-ray observations). Such abdominal exercise not only tends to diminish the evils we suffer from our upright posture; it also drives a good deal of slacker blood back into circulation. I have mentioned, too, that the corset gets in its wicked work by inducing atrophy and fatty degeneration of the abdominal and other muscles and this decreased abdominal tone or lessened intra-abdominal tension favors both splanchnic stagnation and the stagnation of blood in the splanchnic vessels—therefore women outnumber men about four to one as victims of splanchnic stagnation, and women suffer about eight times more functional trouble of the pelvic organs than do men, thanks to the stagnant splanchnic pool.
"Brace yourself!" is the constant admonition dinned in the ears of the cowering plebe at West Point. After a year or so of self-bracing the unhappy plebe becomes a cheerful yearling.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Hives.
I am a victim of hives. What will prevent hives? What will relieve an attack? (H. K. H.)
Answer—Urticaria (hives) is a skin reaction produced by many different causes in different individuals, such as the use of certain drugs like quinine, acetylsalicylic acid ("aspirin"), turpentine, arsenic, senna, cubebs, etc.; certain foods to which the individual is sensitized, such as strawberries, mushrooms, lobster, honey, cheese, cucumbers, sometimes even eggs; the presence of intestinal parasites; itch mites; body lice, and the bites of insects in some persons. One susceptible to any such irritant will suffer an attack from trifling exposure, as from eating a bit of cake in which eggs are present, or taking a laxative in which senna is present, or nibbling at a strawberry. Obviously prevention is a problem for study in each individual case. For relief, a brisk cathartic such as a bottle of solution of citrate of magnesium may be taken, or a sedative powder mixed up with an additional teaspoonful or two of salts. A short fast, or a diet limited to bread or crackers, milk and rice for a few days. A bathing now and then with tepid water in a basin of which a handful of saleratus is dissolved; or a few spoonfuls of household ammonia in a basin of water, or a handful of oatmeal in the basin. Following this, dry the skin by pressing gently with a towel, and powder freely with cornstarch powder. For excessive itching this lotion is grateful:
Powdered calamine 1 dram
Powdered zinc oxide 2 drams
Glycerin 1 ounce
Lime water 2 ounces
Five per cent phenol solution 1 ounce
Rose water 2 ounces
Plain water, enough to make 8 ounces
Shake this mixture well and apply as often as desired for itching, by sopping on with the fingers without rubbing. Some persons prefer a powder consisting of:
Camphor 2 drams
Zinc oxide 6 drams
Corn starch 1½ ounces
This is dusted over the hives as often as desired. It should be remembered that hives are like enormous mosquito bites or welts raised on the skin, coming and going abruptly even while you watch them.
Bunions.
Apropos of a cure for bunions, I have found that soaking the foot in a basin of water as hot as endurable, with enough copperas dissolved in the water to give it a coppery color, will take out the inflammation better than anything else. (W. K.)
Answer—Copperas is sulphate of iron, an astringent. It may help the effect, though the hot water soaking alone is generally a relief.

Honor Poet Of The West
By Frederico J. Haskin
Washington, D. C.—Joaquin Miller, the picturesque poet of the west, is to be immortalized in Washington—so far as a bronze bust unveiled with speeches and songs can immortalize a man.
A good many people have come to regard Joaquin Miller as one of the greatest American poets. The British claimed him as such during his lifetime, perhaps because they read his poetry before they became acquainted with the man. Over here, attention was arrested by the sensational facts that he liked to live alone in a cabin in the mountains; that he preferred to build the cabin himself; that he wore a long beard like that of Moses in the famous Michael Angelo painting, and that he wore it because he admired Moses and the painting; that he attended a reception in England in overalls. These and many other bizarre tales Americans heard about Joaquin Miller, and his poetry became for most people only another manifestation of a strange personality such as his addiction to top boots.
Like Walt Whitman and other strongly individualistic poets, Miller will probably always be a subject of controversy. But California, his adopted state, has begun to realize that Joaquin Miller understood, better perhaps than any other poet, the beauty, terror and romance of the pioneer west, and that the record preserved in his poems is a valuable heritage.
The California Society in Washington paid tribute to Joaquin eight years ago, when the poet was still alive, when it had one of his log cabins placed in Rock Creek Park with appropriate ceremony.
The cabin Joaquin had built when he spent some time in the Capital on his return from Europe. He located a spot in a sufficiently rustic corner of the city, and made his cabin of stones left over from the Washington Monument and timber from Rock Creek Park. After he left this residence for his Californian mountain home, the section around the cabin was built up into city squares, and as Joaquin was always associated with nature unimproved, the California Society arranged to have the cabin placed in a clearing by Rock Creek.
Here the bust of the poet is to be placed. Gertrude Boyle, the sculptor who has modeled the heads of John Muir, Luther Burbank, and other famous westerners, is the only person who ever modeled Joaquin while he was alive.
She has three studies of him, one of which she is to have cast in bronze for the memorial.
Miss Boyle, who has just been in Washington to see the place where the memorial is to be located, told the writer how she went to Joaquin's California mountain retreat on "The Heights" overlooking Oakland. She went to model him, but he urged her to make a bust of his mother at once. He seemed so impatient to have his mother modeled that Miss Boyle settled down in one of the mountain cabins nearby and went to work, and the bust was completed just before Mr. Miller died.
Then, the sculptor stayed on in the little country artists' writers, and people who wanted quiet, had collected in the half dozen cabins near the poet. For eight years she stayed, and during that time she had ample opportunity to study and model him.
Typical Outdoor Statue
The bust, which is to be placed in the National Capital shows the poet in the familiar sombrero hat with his flowing beard and keen eyes. The lines of a coat over one shoulder are suggested to represent the elk's hide coat he often wore slung over his shoulders. The face is a careful likeness. Aside from that the bust gives the impression of rough, simply cut lines. It is typically an outdoor statue, heroic in size, and most impressive from a short distance. Miss Boyle says she tried to make her statue suggestive of the elemental outdoor type of man that Joaquin was.
THE QUESTION BOX
(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederico J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Q. Can you tell me the name of a solution that will tarnish silverware quickly? I demonstrate a silver polish and must be able to put a tarnish on at short notice. A. R.
A. The Bureau of Standards says that a dilute solution of potassium sulphide (drier of sulphur) which may be obtained at any drug store should prove satisfactory for this purpose.
Q. How are the metric systems of weight capacity and length related? W. N. E.
A. All measures of length, and to "meter," of capacity in "liter" and of weight in "gram." For practical purposes it is assumed that 1 cubic decimeter equals 1 liter and 1 liter of water weighs 1 kilogram.
Q. When was the typewriter invented? L. H. N.
A. The first typewriter of which there is a record was patented in England, in 1714. In 1837 a machine known as a typographer, or an American Typewriter, was invented by A. W. Burt.
Q. When do canaries molt? F. J. S.
A. Canaries renew their feathers once a year. Adults molt in the summer. Young birds molt the juvenal body plumage after leaving the nest, but keep the first growth of wing and tail feathers for a year. Canaries are somewhat dull and stupid while molting and should be disturbed as little as possible.
Q. Is the Atlantic Ocean saltier than the Pacific? J. L. B.
A. The Geological Survey says that there is practically no difference in the saltiness of the two oceans.
Q. Where did Limburger cheese get its name? A. K.
A. The cheese bears the name of the town in which it was first made—Limburg, Belgium.
Q. What was the use of the mercy seat, described as part of the Ark of the Covenant? P. E. G.
A. The mercy seat was a golden plate on top of the Ark on which was sprinkled the blood of sacrificial animals.
Q. Where does most of the home-grown buckwheat come from? A. M. V.
A. Buckwheat is grown principally in the northeastern part of the United States, New York and Pennsylvania producing more than 60 per cent of the crop.
Q. How hard should syrup be boiled for candy? E. D.
A. There are five stages recognized in candy making. The soft ball stage, used for fountains; thread stage, used for sea foam; crack stage, used

Q. Do pickered and pike lose their teeth in midsummer and is this the reason they will not strike at this season? R. F. S.
A. The Bureau of Fisheries says that pike and pickered do not shed or lose their teeth at any time during the year. The reason that they refrain from striking or biting is because they find natural food in the water and will not be attracted by artificial lure.
Q. How much money has been expended by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance in settling the claims of ex-servicemen? P. E. E.
A. The Bureau of War Risk Insurance says that a total of $226,488,881.34 has been disbursed by the Government in settlement of compensation claims of former service men disabled as a result of wounds, injuries, or disease, and of claims of dependents of war veterans who were killed or who died. Disbursements for disability have aggregated $192,677,589.40, and those for death $33,809,301.86. During the month of May the bureau paid out $10,575,416 in death and disability compensation.

Unfair to Showmen Here
Carnivals are a detriment to our city. I wish to advance one step farther, by stating that I heartily approve of the action taken by our mayor, or also a protest by others in regard to carnivals in this city.
It is generally conceded that a carnival company is out for the dollars, and if they can induce some society as an agency to bring their influence to bear sufficiently, their chance of getting in is usually assured. In regard to true conditions all a person has to do is to attend a series of these exhibitions and an opinion can be formed very readily. Then again if these shows are allowed, it is not giving our city a very fair deal. Their homes and property are located here, they pay their tax, and should be protected, while the outside showmen pays a very limited price for his right and gets away for other fields. It would seem that there are plenty of shows and attractions to satisfy our people and keep the undesirable out.

YOUR TEETH
Do It Now
By Rea P. McGee, M.D., D. D. S.
It is very encouraging to think that "it is never too late to mend," but when mending is postponed too long there is nothing left but repair.
The best way to avoid damage is to take care in the first place. If a child is taught to take care of his baby teeth from infancy, those teeth will do their work and give comfort, health and beauty.
The teeth, the gums, the tongue and the cheeks of every child, should be brushed thoroughly twice each day.
Every child should have its own brush and a can of good tooth paste.
The brush must be kept very clean. When the teeth are to be washed, the brush should be wet in running water and the paste or powder placed on the brush.
Then the chewing surface of the teeth should be thoroughly brushed, both above and below.
Wet the brush again and brush thoroughly the lingual or tongue side of the teeth.
First, scrub them well with a circular movement, then place the brush straight to the chewing surface, paying particular attention to cleansing the spaces between the teeth.
Repeat this on the labial, or outside, surface of the teeth, using plenty of water and dentifrice.
After these movements have been completed, brush the inside of the cheeks and lips, then the gums and finally the tongue.
Rinse the mouth with clean water or a mild mouthwash, then wash the tooth brush and hang it up to dry until it is time for the next "tooth bath."
Don't put two or more tooth brushes in one container.
Hang up every brush by itself so that it will not be touched by any other.
Big Berry Crop
Langlade-co. has one of the biggest blackberry crops in its history according to Gerhart Rehfeldt who returned Sunday night from a week's vacation at Elton and Polar. Several hundred automobiles from that part of the state visited the berry patches Sunday, some of them arriving on the scene as early as 6 o'clock in the morning. The berries are of a good quality and Sunday was the first day they were ripe enough to pick.

Fruit Left-Overs

After canning there will be a little of this and a bit of that fruit left over. Fruit may be combined into delicious marmalades or jellies and every drop stored away for winter use. Some fruits won't "jelly" themselves but if mixed with an acid fruit containing pectin a firm jelly will be the result with taste of the more delicate fruit.

Peaches do not jelly well but if peach juice and apple juice are combined in equal parts the jelly will be firm.

Two quarts gooseberries, 1 quart raspberries, 2 quarts red currants, 8 cups sugar, 2 oranges.

Top and tail gooseberries, pick currants from stems and pick over raspberries. Put part of the fruit in the preserving kettle, sprinkle with sugar, and continue adding fruit and sugar alternately until all is used. Put over a slow fire and stir until the mixture boils. Cook for fifty minutes, stirring to prevent burning. Add the orange cut in thin slices twenty minutes before removing from the fire. Pour into jelly glasses and cover with paraffine when cold.

Carrot Sweetmeats
Ten new carrots, 2 lemons, 1 cup peach juice, 4 cups sugar.

Wash and scrape carrots and put through the food chopper. Cover with water and cook ten minutes. Add lemon cut in thin slices, sugar and peach juice. Simmer until mixture is thick and pour into sterilized jars. Cover with paraffine when cold. The peach juice may be the sirup left from canning peaches by the open kettle method.

Peach Orange Marmalade
Twelve peaches, 4 oranges, 1 cup water, sugar, 2 cups sour apples cut in dice, 1 cup meats.

Peel and slice peaches. Cut the peel of 2 oranges into shreds and squeeze the juice from all four. Cook peaches apples and orange shreds with the water until tender. Add juice and measure. Use cup for cup of sugar. Cook ten minutes after the nuts are added. Pour into sterilized jars and cover with paraffine when cold.

Jim Jam
Four ripe red tomatoes, 6 sour apples, ½ cup raisins, 12 whole cloves, 12 whole allspice, 1 inch stick cinnamon, ½ cup vinegar, sugar.

Peel tomatoes and cut in small pieces. Pare apples and cut in cubes. Measure and add as many cups of sugar as there is fruit. Add vinegar, and spices tied in a piece of cheesecloth. Simmer for an hour and add raisins. Cook half an hour longer and remove spices. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffine when cold.

Unwelcome Discovery

The dusk came before we reached the mansion which Dr. Hamilton Certeis had once called his home. The huge windows were boarded up. In what obscure corner the caretaker lived did not concern us. I planned to enter the cellars boldly by the way I had once followed in fear.

We stepped from our auto at the entrance in the alley where I, in the day of war-time intrigue, had seen Certeis disguised as a vender of fruit.

The high wall which backed Certeis' garden ran from one street to the next. Apparently it was blank, but I had seen a certain panel swing inward, and the god of chance had long ago betrayed a particular nail head which controlled the gate.

Because I knew the location of the gate, I was the first to perceive half way down the alley a man and a woman meet and suddenly vanish into the wall! They had done exactly what we were about to do!

I wavered.

The thickening twilight seemed to invade and darken my mind. I would know Bob Lormer's thin form in the shades of the inferno! Oxford, while I gained strength to

I adjusted my yell, and pulled at an oxford, while I gained strength to face the fact that Bob and Katherine Miller had entered the secret cellars of the deserted house.

I was relieved because none of my suddenly the most formidable bit of action in the drama of my life.

It was too dreadful! Impossible! Probably not all of the crew of war-time plotters had been corralled and exported or imprisoned. It was not unlikely that the sub-cellar might now be a rendezvous for lovers as it once had been for spies.

"Well, Jane What have we come for?"

Daddy's abrupt question seemed to come from the farther side of the world. I pulled myself together: "For a box of junk."

Dr. Spence gave me one sharp glance, then placed a palm beneath my elbow. He was kind. And I was a silly, helpless girl, and always needing to lean on a man, always and always wanting my one particular man!

And if the events of the evening were to hold together, like the links of a chain, never—never again, would I care to lean upon my own husband for support!

NANCY 'PHONES

"Yes," said Sprinkle Blow, the Weatherman, to the wins, "our course is plain. In order to please all the creatures, we must first get Jack Frost out of the way, then fill our watering pots and ride the nearest cloud over to Farmer Smith's sassa-patch garden. We can then send a gentle shower to make the carrot and lettuce seeds grow. That ought to please our friend Ben Bunny."

"But how can we get Jack Frost out of the way?" asked Nick. "He told us once that when it was time for spring to come, he wouldn't get out if he could help it."

"Very true!" nodded Sprinkle-Blow. "But I think I know of a pretty good plan to get him out of the way. Later on when I have more time, I will have to bring him up to the sky again and lock him up with the other Nuisance Fairies. Nancy, do you know how to telephone?"

"Good!" answered the fairyman. "Then suppose you go into my house and call Mr. Sun. His number is one million and one. Universe. And tell him to make Jack Frost go North. Up there the seals, and walruses, and polar bears just laugh at Jack's pranks, so he may as well be entertaining them. Tell Mr. Sun to be very firm with him and to watch him until he is gone, for Jack's a tricky chap."

"Yes, sir, I'll tell him," said Nancy, going into the house at once.

"There's just this about it," Sprinkle-Blow said to Nick when Nancy had gone, "as long as Jack Frost is down on the earth, those old nuisances, Thunder and Lightning, will stay where they belong. They won't go where Jack is."

Why a Six--

The popularity of the Six is universal. Everyone admits that there is great pleasure in driving a Six—and, a lightweight six-cylinder car has now been produced which is economical in the use of gasoline and oil.

The Six Cylinder Motor is the most satisfactory unit of power because —it is powerful.

—it has a quick "get away" in traffic.

—it can be driven long distances without tiring the driver.

—it responds quickly and smoothly to the will of the driver—it can be throttled down to a snail's pace in high gear and accelerated to its maximum speed in a few seconds.

—its overlapping power impulses deliver a continuous flow of power, giving that velvety feeling which is so desirable.

—it is freer from mechanical troubles because of the absence of vibration, that destroyer of "metal life."

—and because the principle of six cylinder construction is based on a law of natural balance which reduces annoying vibrations and gives quietness and smoothness of operation.

PATROLMEN KEEP COUNTY'S ROADS IN GOOD SHAPE

Ruts Are Filled and Brush Cut Away From Ditches by Highway Workers.

Although unusual weather conditions have prevailed this summer highway patrolmen in Outagamie co. have had no idle moments. A peep into the daily records kept by County Highway Commissioner A. G. Brusewitz would bear out this statement.

During normal weather, dragging or "surfacing" the roads occupy much of the patrolmen's time. After every rain, which is normally quite frequent, it is necessary to go over every foot of the patrol with a grader which fills up the ruts and "irons" out the creases. Rainstorms have been so infrequent this summer that grading was but a small part of the work.

Instead, patrolmen have spent most of their time hauling gravel, cutting brush, cutting weeds, improving the Big dance at Wm. Meltz Pavilion Thursday, Aug. 4th. Music furnished by Gih Horst orchestra of Chilton. Well ventilated hall, also special parking grounds. Admission 85c.

"shoulders" and going other odd jobs which may not be considered absolutely necessary but which add a great deal to the appearance of highways and substantially improves them.

Of the 25 men on patrol work in this county, six are on the state and federal patrol forces. Five of the six are on "truck patrol" duty. They are equipped with large motor trucks, graders, shovels, picks and slushers. There is very little necessary work on a section that the truck patrol cannot do. Their extensive equipment permits them to do almost every kind of work quickly. The other federal patrolmen are furnished with a wagon, a drag scraper, shovel, pick and grader and this is the standard equipment furnished county patrolmen.

Men Interested in Work. A marked feature of the patrol system this summer, Mr. Brusewitz said, is the attitude of the patrolmen toward their work. Since the inauguration of the patrol system a few years ago, the work has been carried on under wartime conditions.

Scarcity of labor and the spirit of "high wages and less work" had its effect on highway work. Mr. Brusewitz has noted but he now finds this condition to be gradually disappearing. Patrolmen are working more conscientiously than ever before, Mr. Brusewitz declares. This has resulted in road conditions being appreciably "above par" in comparison with previous years. Not only are patrolmen working just a little harder and doing their work better but contractors also report that men engaged in building bridges and laying concrete are exhibiting the same attitude in their work.

Five Concrete Sections. Five patrolmen in the county have concrete highway under their care. Their sections vary from 21 to 23 miles in length. Sections of gravel road assigned to patrolmen do not exceed 11 miles in length and some of them are only 8 miles long. The mileage varies according to conditions that affect the maintenance of the highway. Each patrolman is required to make a daily report to the county highway office. In this report he tells the kind of work done and the time spent in doing it. Any circumstances delaying work must be noted in the report and if the patrolman has an assistant his work also must be reported. At the end of the month each patrolman "ends in the report" covering each day's work. The daily report is the patrolman's time card from which his pay check is made out.

BOOK MOVIES FOR SELLING COURSE

Best Lecturers in Country Will Come Here for Fall Merchandising Series.

Three moving pictures will feature the course in retail merchandising which is being arranged jointly by the retail division of the chamber of commerce and the vocational school for the fall months. Use of the films has been assured Secretary Hugh G. Corbett by the organizations which have charge of their distribution.

One of these will be "Getting the Most Out of Retailing." It will give demonstrations embodying store organization window display advertising salesmanship and system. The most modern methods will be pictured. A second will be the film, "Valley of Hearts Delight," prepared by the San Jose, Calif. Chamber of Commerce. It shows how the organization "sells" the city to the people by showing its features. The third picture is to be an analysis of sales.

These movies will be in addition to lectures on merchandising by some of the most able selling experts in the country. The program has not been completed, but will contain the names of practical and successful people who can bring new ideas to the merchants and salespeople of Appleton.

Appleton's course last winter attracted such widespread attention because of its high quality that every city in the Fox River valley has written Secretary Corbett about conducting similar courses. Mr. Corbett therefore is working on a plan to form a class in each valley city, and book the same speaker and film successively in each place. This will minimize the expense to each, making it possible to get out more money to obtain some of the best talent in the United States.

Get Better Shoes For Less Money Now, Dealers Say

Black and Brown Will Be Popular Colors in Footwear for Coming Season.

Danger of serious accidents by tripping and falling among the fair sex should be materially lessened this fall, for not only has fashion decreed that skirts shall be enticed in the direction of the shoes, but heels are to be worn much lower. In walking oxfords the heels are to be as low as those of Mr. Man's. In fact this type of shoe is to be modeled along the very lines of those worn by the lords of creation with toes, stitched soles ball strap and perforations according to Clark Goodland of the Novelty Boot Shop.

These Oxfords are manufactured at the factories making men's shoes and are designed along the same lines. They will come in the new brown wood shades of the chestnut, hazel and hickory. Men will wear oxfords in Russian calf and heavy Scots grain with fancy trimmings in perforations and brass eyelets.

Black is to be very good for men and women and patent leather is to be popular. This is the first time in a number of years that patent leathers are to be seen in men's oxfords and pumps.

Full stock will consist of about 85 per cent of low shoes such as oxfords and pumps, and 15 per cent high, according to Mr. Goodland. Oxfords will be worn with the heavy hose in winter with artics, which will be in greater demand than ever.

A combination of light and dark brown leather is used to make a novelty sports oxford.

Black is Leading Color. Party slippers come in black satin and patent leather with straps which still are in high favor, or with buckles and with baby Louis or junior Louis heels.

Black is to be the leading color for foot wear it was learned from Leslie Martin of the Pettibone Peabody Co. Low shoes will be made up in satin, suede, patent leather and black kid with baby Louis and junior heels.

Street oxfords in the dark calf and medium Russian calf with low heels or Cuban heels will be worn in fancy patterns.

"Women used to come in here with their samples of dress goods to get shoes that exactly matched," said Ray Kasten of Kasten Brothers. "They used to think that their shoes must match their costume, but they wear almost any combination now."

Mr. Kasten believes that men will wear more high shoes than oxfords. He said the new shoes have wider toes and less perforations than last season. Brown will continue to be the favorite color for men while women will wear both brown and black.

Men are easier to sell to, according to Mr. Kasten who has observed that a man will decide quick, while women generally want to see the entire selection. Women, however, buy several pairs of shoes to one for their husbands.

Prices are Down. The price of shoes is becoming stabilized and good shoes for men may be secured for from $5 to $8 and for women at from $6.50 to $10. Shoes now are of a much better grade of leather than those purchased during the war when poor workmanship was responsible for the coarse products.

The street shoes of men and women follow the same lines, it was learned at the Hecker Shoe Co. The ball and strap and winged tip with low heels will be very good. The black oxfords will be worn without the ball and strap. Satin pumps for dress wear are shown with bead effects.

Salesmen at the Bohl and Maeser Co. store said men are much easier to sell to than women for the reason that there is very little variety in men's shoes in comparison with women's shoes. There is practically one style of heel compared with at least five or six styles in woman's foot wear. Then there are practically only two or three choices of colors among men's shoes, while there is a great variety of style in ladies shoes.

R. T. Gage of the Gloudehams Gage Co. says that shoes are of much better grade now than in the last few years although they are not as expensive as they were while the grades were inferior.

If milady really wants to have the last word in fall foot wear she must have all a pair of oxfords in one of the new wood shades of chestnut or hazel brown in the mannish style with ball and strap. Stuffed soles low heels, then a pair of black patent leather oxfords or tongue pumps to wear with the suit. The party slipper of black satin with straps and junior or baby Louis heels complete the wardrobe.

REVIVE MOVEMENT FOR STORAGE PLANT

The movement to erect a large cold storage warehouse in Appleton is being revived by some of the leading produce buyers and dealers. Several business men have approached Secretary Hugh G. Corbett of the chamber of commerce asking him to go into the matter further.

Mr. Corbett intends to submit the proposition to the industrial committee, and some of the firms desiring the plant probably will be heard on the subject.

Need of a cold storage plant was emphasized to the chamber about six months ago. Mr. Corbett began gathering data on the subject from other cities and obtained figures as to its probable cost. Some of the persons who advocated the plant appeared to lose interest and there was a reluctance to build at that time on account of high prices. The matter therefore was not pushed, but has been revived again by several influential men.

MICHIGAN BLUEBERRY MARSH IS DESTROYED

Thousands of acres of blue berry bushes have just been destroyed by a fire that swept over Michigan marsh 12 miles from Channing Mich. according to word received from Channing by William Vaughn, principal of the school in that city who is visiting here. Mr. Vaughn said there were very few berries this season owing to a late frost but last year the marsh was filled with pickers who secured hundreds of cases.

HEROES KILLED DURING BIGGEST BATTLES OF WAR

Sergts. Heiss and Johnston Were Members of Famous Rainbow Division.

The bodies of Sergeant Onev Johns ton and Sergeant William B. Heiss which reached Hoboken last week, are expected to arrive in Appleton about Wednesday. Burial with military honors will be arranged by Onev Johnston post of the American legion. The post was named to honor the memory of Sergeant Johnston.

Both men served at the Mexican border with old Company G Second Wisconsin regiment. They left Appleton in July 1917 for the World War. The company then became Company A, One-Hundred Fifteenth Machine Gun Battalion and sailed for France in October, 1917, arriving Nov. 1. Both soldiers served in the trenches in Lorraine.

Serge Heiss then entered the Champagne offensive, which was the last big German drive, July 15, 1918. He was killed July 29, 1918 in the Chateau Thierry sector while the division was making its advance up a dangerous hill from Orre river to Ferre in Tardenois. A piece of shell struck him and caused almost instant death. Heiss was buried within a few feet of where he fell by his comrades.

Serge Johnston left his company at Lorraine when ordered to attend an officers' school at Longres during March, 1918. Here he contracted pneumonia and was confined to a hospital for two months. He was then returned to Company A July 20, 1918 just as the men were moving from Champagne to Chateau Thierry. Here an attack began at 4 o'clock in the morning of July 28, 1918 against German troops who had made a stand on the Orre river bank. Within an hour Johnston had been fatally injured by German shell fire and died within about 30 minutes. He was one of the oldest members of his company in point of service.

IMMORALITY GROWING AMONG THE BRITISH

(Special to Post-Crescent) London.—In England it is almost obligatory to prove cruelty and inability to obtain divorce. Hence the divorce records indicate the morals of the people. Here are the figures on the numbers of divorce suits filed: 1913 1267 1914 2039 1915 2682 1920 4132. Complaints were filed by husbands and 1639 by wives. In 40 per cent of the suits there were no children of the marriage, in 24 per cent the marriages had not lasted as long as five years, and in 21 per cent the couple had married when they were under age.

Tomato Worms Growers of tomatoes find their yield impaired this year by long green worms that have made their appearance for the first time and sap the vitality of the plants. H. Korner, 1034 Alvin st., was seeking the cause of the failure of his plants to mature and discovered several of the worms. He has raised tomatoes in his garden for many years and remarks that this is the first time he has seen worms of this kind among his plants.

Members of George D. Eggleston Post have received notice that the next annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held at Indianapolis, Sept. 26, 27 and 28. The encampment was held in the same city a year ago so the veterans who attend are assured a good time judging from the hospitality shown them at the former encampment. The delegates of the local post are Comrades Dennis Meadum and Wilder.

Two members of the Grand Army Post who are at present confined to their homes are Nicholas Colngen and James King of the Fifth ward. Both are victims of paralysis.

HE BELIEVES IT SAVED HIS LIFE

Pinar Would Have Given Nothing He Possessed For The Relief Tanlac Brought Him

"I don't believe there is anything that will put a man who is down and out on his feet as quick as Tanlac will," said E. P. Pinar, of 1021 Minnecotave, Duluth, Minn., in relating his experience with the medicine.

"For a good many years I had such a bad case of stomach trouble, and was in such fear and dread my food wouldn't agree with me that I couldn't enjoy a meal. I suffered so from indigestion and bloating, and had such terrible pains up through my chest that many times I would have given anything I possessed for relief. Why if I hadn't gotten hold of Tanlac I believe I would have been a goner altogether by now."

"Tanlac just keeps me going, for it has not only fixed up my stomach but it has given me a good appetite also. I keep Tanlac on hand all the time, and whenever I feel myself slipping it doesn't take the medicine long to straighten me out again. It keeps up my strength and weight, and I'm now feeling better and looking better than I have in a long time. Tanlac is the only medicine that ever gave me relief, and I am certainly lucky to have run across it for it saves me all the suffering and misery I had endured before I got hold of it." adv.

Keep Your Line Of Communication Open Health Talk No. 32 by Jas. A. Rolfe, D. C.

Health Turns the Clock Backward Lincoln rejected a plan of campaign submitted by McClellan in civil war times because McClellan had left an opportunity for his line of communication to be cut off.

When by pressure upon spinal nerves due to misplacement of spinal joints "the nerve line of communication to the stomach" is cut off, it is just as effective in starving you to death as being cut off from food. Many are suffering partial paralysis of some organ of the body because of pressure on spinal nerves cutting off the line of communication. Chiropractic spinal adjustments remove the cause of disease in the head, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys and other organs of the body.

BRANDTS LOSE TO MENASHA IN TEN INNINGS 7 TO 4

WILD PITCH LETS MENASHA TIE UP SCORE IN NINTH

Fussilade of Hits Gives Menasha Three Runs in Last Inning.

Schultz's wild heave while pitching to Weisgerber in the ninth inning, permitting Heath to score with the tying run, paved the way for a tenth inning rally and lost a hard luck game to Menasha at Brandt park before 1,400 people, the largest crowd of the season, Sunday afternoon. The score was 7 to 4. The wild pitch came after two strikes were counted against Weisgerber and he struck out with the next pitched ball, retiring the side.

Two errors and three hits in the tenth inning gave the game to Menasha. Shleski started by striking out, but Hoffman got a life on Wood's error. Wood booted a fast roller along the first base line and could not recover in time to catch the runner. Hoffman went around to third when Beyer failed to cover second on an attempted steal and Shott's perfect throw to the sack went into center field. Schultz, Menasha's crack shortstop, followed with a single which scored Hoffman. Klawitter fanned and then Heath blazed a double to left, scoring Schultz. Zelinski followed with a single to right and Heath counted with the final run. Appleton was unable to connect in the last half of the inning.

Every kind of baseball was played Sunday afternoon. There was hardly an inning that wasn't filled with thrills. One of the features was Hoffman's home run in the fifth inning—the first in Brandt park—scoring three runs and tying up the game.

Schultz was hit hard and was in trouble most of the time. Eleven hits were garnered off his moist ball delivery while Spencer Heath, formerly of the Chicago White Sox, held the Brandts to six safe blows. He pitched a much steadier game and deserved to win.

Klawitter, the big first baseman formerly with New London, failed to shine at the bat in spite of his reputation as a hitter. He whiffed three times and doubled once but the sacks were empty when he came and he died on the paths.

Scout had been running prevented Menasha from scoring in the first inning. Weisgerber hit the first ball pitched for two bases and reached third safely when Mudloff dropped a perfect peg from the outfield. He tried to score on Shleski's roller to Spies but was caught at the plate.

The Brandts hit safely in the first and second innings but were held scoreless until the third when Priebe's two base drive scored three runs. Schultz got a life on an error and went to second on a sacrifice hit by Spies. Beyer's roller to Heath went safe when Heath threw wide to the first and Mudloff got a life on a fly to catch Schultz at third which missed fire. Then Priebe emptied the sacks with his long smash.

Two hits in Menasha's half of the third got Schultz in trouble but he got away without a run being scored on until the fifth.

Weisgerber got a life on Spies' bad throw to Wood at first and then ran around to third on Shleski's double to center. Hoffman followed with his four base drive and the bases were emptied, three men counting. Schultz struck out the next two batters.

The Brandts went into the lead in the sixth on two hits. Shott opened with a double and scored on Duran's single to center. The score remained in a knot until the ninth when Heath opened with a double, went to third on Delmore's single into right and scored on Schultz's wild heave.

Yesterday's hero, Carl Mays, the submarine hurler held the Indians to two hits and drove in four runs himself, the Yankees winning 12 to 2. Ruth got his thirty-eighth homer off Ray Caldwell.

After hitting safely in twenty-six consecutive games, Goldie Rapp was stopped by the Cubs, but the Phils won 10 to 2.

The Reds pulled the Giants back into second place by taking a double header from them, 8 to 7, and 4 to 2. The first went 12 innings and the second 11.

Homers by Wheat and Rutherford were the only counters made off Bill Pertica and the Cards took their third straight game from the Robins 4 to 2.

Washington made it six games in a row by defeating the Tigers, 9 to 5.

MERCHANTS TOO STRONG FOR TELEPHONE TEAM

The West End Merchants added another scalp to their list when they took the Wisconsin Telephone Company baseball team into camp by a score of 9 to 5 Sunday afternoon at Combined Locks baseball park. Schneider and Schabow led the heavy work for the merchants while Brooks and Richmond were the battery for the telephone company.

The Merchants executed a double play in the sixth frame. The play was from Zuehlke to Lazaar to Wolters.

Score by innings:
Merchants 2 2 0 1 0 0 0 2 2-9
Telephone Co. 0 0 0 2 3 0 0 0 0-5

CUBS MAINSTAY

Grover Alexander is the flywheel of the Chicago Nationals. He's the big Cub of the J. Evers attraction.

Fans pay little attention to the standing of the team, knowing they're in the second depth, but they are posted on Big Alex and his mound doings. Starting with a lame arm, this spring he worked in only three games up to June 4.

Now his arm has regained its cunning and its strength of other great years, and he's out to win 30 games.

BRITISH GOLF STARS DEFEAT AMATEUR TEAM

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Before the latest crowd that ever jammed the Pine Grove country club links, George Duncan, English open champion, and Abe Mitchell, world's longest driver, Saturday defeated Jim Lovelock, Green Bay professional, Fred Oliver, Iron Mountain amateur, and Harry Flora, Houghton, Mich., professional, in a 36-hole low ball match. Lovelock was the star of the Wisconsin-Michigan players, turning in a score of 152, 12 strokes above par. Duncan turned in a card of 143, while Mitchell turned in a card of 150.

Duncan and Mitchell, whose coming had been heralded in Iron Mountain for many weeks, arrived in Iron Mountain shortly before 10 o'clock. They were met by a reception committee from the country club headed by Claude Millman and were immediately taken to the links.

An hour after his arrival, Duncan drove the first ball. The weather was perfect with the exception of a high wind which bothered all the players and particularly Mitchell, who holds the world's record for long drives. The exhibition attracted golf enthusiasts from all over the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of Wisconsin and all declared themselves well satisfied with the match although they generally credited Duncan and Mitchell with being poor putters.

Many of the visitors stayed over for the Wisconsin-Michigan match Monday, which will be played here. Representative amateur teams from northern Wisconsin will meet representative amateur teams from the upper peninsula in their annual tournament.

INTERLAKE TEAM WINS FROM RAILROAD SQUAD

In a pitchers' battle at Interlake Sunday afternoon the Interlake baseball team defeated the Chicago Northwestern Co. team 5 to 4. The battery for the Interlake team was Last and Horn and for the railroad team, Wheeler and Basing. Wheeler struck out 12 men and Last turned down 15 batters.

Interlakes squeezed out seven hits while Last held his opponents five blows. About 300 people witnessed the game.

Score by innings:
Interlake 1 0 1 0 0 0 6 1-5
Railroad Co. 0 0 0 0 3 0 0 1-4

KIMBERLY SPURT IN FIRST INNING WHIPS KAUKAUNA

Poor Base Running Spoils Electric City's Chances in Sunday's Game.

Kimberly banged the "Smoky" Schmidt for four hits in the first frame and won her game from Kaukauna Sunday afternoon at Kimberly ball park by a score of 4 to 2. That little twirl in the battery enabled the mill-town men to score three times before the side was retired. After the first round the Hollanders couldn't see Schmidt and they managed to squeeze out only two singles in the remaining eight innings. Kaukauna scored twice in the third frame but beyond that the men were unable to stage a rally which was effective.

The Electric city men pounded Shinners hard even in the first frame. They sent a man around the circuit but he was out in sliding to the plate. Shinners allowed nine hits but each time Kaukauna attempted to score the runner was caught.

Schmidt's control was poor. He walked five batters and it was only by grooving the ball that he prevented others from being passed. Otherwise he was equal to the task of keeping the Kimberly men in check. Their fourth run came in the second frame after a series of errors.

Kaukauna's outfield was a perfect machine and made a number of brilliant catches. In one instance, Marty Lamers clouted the ball toward the fence, the pill flying squarely between center and left field. It looked good for three bases but Johnson grabbed it and came within an inch of colliding with Thompson who had also made a tremendous chase. Marty got as far as second when the umpire called him out and he was reluctant to leave the base since he had not seen the catch.

A noticeable feature of the game was that the two teams' hitters of the teams were downed without trouble, while the weak end of the batting line went on a rampage and slugged hits all over the lot. Jensen, Kaukauna's first baseman, who has been exceptionally weak in batting, knocked out a double and two singles in five chances. Sylvester rapped a single in the first and scored a runner.

RIVERVIEW GOLFERS LOSE CLOSE MATCH TO OSHKOSH

Golf players from the Oshkosh Country club defeated a team from the Riverview Country club, 28 to 26, in a match Saturday afternoon in Oshkosh. The men from the local club were guests at a luncheon and were given use of the entire club.

The men who represented the Riverview Country club were: E. L. Sorenson, G. W. Bergstrom, E. Mahler, E. F. Boyle, Kenneth Dickinson, Phil. Dickinson, C. S. SWIMS 100 MILES

Henry Eloinsky.

New York—Henry Eloinsky, holder of the world's record for long distance swimming with a mark of 65 miles, is training here at Brighton Beach baths for his supreme test.

He will try to swim 100 miles. Eloinsky is a big fellow but he is a highly developed aquatic star.

His chief rival in the long distance swimming is Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass. Sullivan is now in England where he will make his fourth attempt to swim the hazardous English channel.

Sullivan like Eloinsky, is a big man. He weighs 210.

Weather conditions have much to do with the success or failure of the marathon swimmers. If they choose a good day for their venture they have much in their favor. But if they run into bad weather conditions the odds are about 10 to 1 against them reaching their goal.

TWIN CITIES ORGANIZING STRONG BASKETBALL TEAM

Menasha—Menasha and Neenah are to be represented by one of the strongest basketball teams of the section this coming season. Frank Lillie, manager of the Cardinals for the last few years has been in the Twin cities the last few days reorganizing the team. Kenneth Chapelle, Albert Kuehl, and Herman Kuehl, three local stars have been signed to play. Wall, who formerly played with the Cardinals, is also to play and negotiations are now being had with two Menasha stars. It is also very probable that Lillie may secure the services of Doc Delmore's last year's captain of the Two Rivers team and at present playing with the Menasha baseball team. Delmore is contemplating entering business in Menasha and if he does he will play with the local team this winter.

NEW YORK CLUBS NEED MORE DRIVE TO PUT 'EM OVER

Giants and Yanks Are Within Hailing Distance of Top Positions.

New York—If the Giants had a Cooper or an Alexander. If the Yanks had a manager. If Pittsburg would only get the expected collapse. If the Americans would lay down once in a while.

"Ling" of this variety is occupying the time of New Yorkers at the start of another week of the pennant races which finds both Gotham clubs within that slight step of the lead which they seem unable to negotiate.

The Giants and the Yanks are right on the top of the Pirates and the Indians but both seem to suffer a lapse from form when they get the chance to force ahead.

Pittsburg hit the rocks last week, winning only one out of five games. Meanwhile the Giants were closing in rapidly by winning six out of the eight games. They worked into a tie with the Pirates but then with the opportunity to leap ahead McGraw's men slumped and were trimmed twice Sunday by the Reds.

Being set back by the Reds, however, is not the ignominy it would have been earlier in the season, for Pat Moran has his former champions a vastly different club from the one he started the race with. The Reds won four out of their seven starts last week and played a snappy variety of baseball.

The Pirates have a hard series this week with the Boston Braves. The Hub club slowed up slightly last week by winning three out of five games, but they are losing none of the class that makes them tough meat for any pennant appetites.

For the immediate future the Pirates will be a little better off than the Giants as they are on their home grounds for a stay and the New Yorkers have to hit the rest of the western circuit.

If the present "crucial" series between the Yanks and the Indians means anything the pennant depends entirely on pitching, with the Yanks a slight favorite.

OSHKOSH WINNER OVER NEW LONDON

New London—Stevenson had the better of a pitching duel with Logan here Sunday and Oshkosh won, 3 to 0. It was a tight battle from the start but the Overalls managed to bunch their seven drives. Stevenson held the Edisons to five safe blows.

New London, threatened to score several times but fast fielding and excellent pitching cut off the rallies. The game was quite well attended.

BIG SCORES PILED UP IN INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

Kimberly-Clark Co. team slaughtered the Fox River Paper Co. Saturday afternoon in the Interfactory league by a score of 31 to 6. Ten runs were scored in the eighth inning.

Appleton Coated Paper Co. and the Valley Iron Works engaged in a slug fest which resulted in a 17 to 16 victory for the Valley men. Eleven errors were made in the game. The Interfactories won from the Appleton Woolen-Machine Co. team, 8 to 1, in the best game of the day. Kirk featured with a home run drive.

OSHKOSH INCREASES VALLEY LEAGUE LEAD

Kimberly, 4; Kaukauna, 2.
Oshkosh, 3; New London, 0.

HOW THEY STAND
Oshkosh	10 3 769
Appleton	9 5 642
New London	7 7 500
Menasha	6 7 461
Kimberly	6 8 428
Kaukauna	3 11 215

There were no changes in the relative positions of Fox River Valley league clubs Sunday. Oshkosh now has a commanding lead in the league race and Appleton will have to win all its games and Oshkosh must lose a majority if the Brandts are to cop the title.

Menasha climbed a notch on New London by virtue of its win here while Kaukauna slid down another peg. Kimberly now is close behind the Menasha squad.

NEARLY 6,000 CUT FROM U. S. PAYROLL

By United Press Licensed Wire—Washington.—The government has reduced its forces 3471 since the Harding administration came into office.

But by August 1, according to estimates of the Civil Service Commission, dismissals will reach 6,000.

Government employees in the District of Columbia today number 35,709 fewer than on Nov. 11, 1918, when the World War armistice was signed.

But there are still 42,731 more employees here than on May 30, 1916, when the United States began active participation in the war.

Here are official figures, supplied by the Civil Service Commission:

Date	Number of Employees
June 30, 1916	39,220
Nov. 11, 1918	117,760
March 1, 1921	85,522
June 30, 1921	82,051
July 30, 1921 (estimate)	79,000

The work of some war bureaus did not start until the war was over. That was true, for instance, of the Public Health Service, which undertook to provide treatment and hospitals for disabled service men; and the Bureau of Internal Revenue, upon which fell the task of collecting money to pay for the war.

It will probably be impossible for the present administration to reach the old pre-war level of 39,220 employees. That's because of two factors:

One—the federal income tax requires hundreds of collectors, clerks and stenographers.

Two—Many employees are required in the enforcement of the prohibition amendment.

Madison, Wis.—Growing crops showed a slight improvement during the last week as a result of quite general rains, states the crop reporting service of the department of agriculture.

Farm work is well advanced, as much threshing has already been done. Corn generally received from the effects of lack of moisture and hot winds. Ears are filling fast. Grain crops in southern counties are being threshed, but the yields are light. Cutting is in progress in the northern counties. A few late planted fields of oats are still green in the extreme north.

Potatoes benefited generally but the stand in the central counties is so thin that a very light crop can be expected there. Tobacco shows some improvement. The second crop of clover is in bloom and will make a fair yield. The second crop of alfalfa is being cut. Millet is heading but is short. A large acreage of wild hay is being harvested. Tobacco worms are attacking tobacco, tomatoes and potatoes.

Paddock Still Running

Charley Paddock hasn't hung up his spikes any more than Jack Dempsey has laid away his boxing gloves.

The California running marvel is getting ready to run on the board floors at the big indoor meets of the east this winter.

Paddock likes to run. He loves the limelight which his speed constantly gains for him.

He knows that if he drops out of the cinder path game, he'll slip and never "come back."

Now he is at the peak. For him to quit unbeaten would be a blow to the game just as much as for Dempsey to retire without ever finding his match in the roped enclosure.

Sport Views And News

Pete Herman has made new boxing history in the last seven months.

The New Orleans Italian has beaten three champions during this time, two by the ether route.

On January 13 he gave Jimmy Wilde, British flyweight champ, his first knockout. Two weeks ago he put away Jim Higgins, English bantam title holder.

July 18 he beat Champion Joe Lynch and regained his "derby."

Now Peterkin seeks a bout with John Kilbane, featherweight high-mucky-muck.

An ambitious kid, that!

Something has gone wrong with the Pirate baseball machine and if Boss Gibson don't put sand on his tracks pretty quick, the bucaners will slip off the road to Pennantville. Pittsburg's pitchers appeared to have cracked under the strain of the flag drive, and with the exception of the rejuvenated Babe Adams, none of the Smoketown hurlers are working effectively of late, and this is the main reason for the slump of the team.

Sixteen to one, Sounds more like Bill Bryant's election campaign. Issues or the result of a game in the Lake Shore league but nevertheless this was the score of a game in which the Cleveland Indians handed the New York Yankees a horrible drubbing.

This was the opening argument in the crucial series between the leading teams in the American league race. The Clevelanders have found their batting eyes again and if they continue hitting the old pill, Miller Huggins and his tribe will have an awful job trying to nose 'em out in the pennant race.

We have to laugh. Press stories carry the news that Johnny Wilson is still midweight champion in Massachusetts because the Bay state boxing commission has refused to recognize the decision of the Ohio fight body.

Well, nobody is going to get grey hairs over the action of the New Englanders, in an attempt to protect their native son. The fans consider Downey holder of the crown and it is our opinion that when he gets in the ring again with Wilson, he will repeat his victory.

PLUMBERS WIN ANOTHER GAME FROM B. AND J. TEAM

Appleton Plumbers defeated the Behnke and Jens baseball team 15 to 14 Sunday afternoon at the Fourth ward school diamond. This is the second time that the plumbers have defeated the Behnke and Jens team. Donald Krammisch caught and Herman Kobs pitched for the victors, while Droege caught and Vander-Linden pitched for the clothing team.

Too Many Pickles

Farmers in the town of Maine have so many cucumbers they are giving them away for the pickling. The larger part of the crop has been disposed of at the pickle factory at Shiocton which has more cucumbers than it can handle.

And when little Princess Mary looks around, here is all she sees: DUKE OF BRABANT, 20, heir to throne of Belgium. CZAR BORIS, 27, of Bulgaria. CROWN PRINCE FREDERICK, 22, of Denmark. CROWN PRINCE OF SWEDEN, 40, and a widower. In high social circles of the capital, the names of the royal children are never coupled with those of persons of royal lineage.

The Prince of Wales is said to be very much in love with a beautiful young widow who has high social standing, but whose blood is neither purple nor blue. And to make matters more difficult, she has two children.

CORN PRICES DROP
AS CROP IMPROVES

Chicago, Ill.—Settlement of the elevator market for the wheat market today, while corn dropped slightly with reports of rain improving crop prospects. There was considerable rain in the northwest over Sunday, but it failed to affect the wheat quotations. Cash trade was quiet and buyers were disposed to make the most of the advantage given them by the congestion at the leading markets. It was understood the striking elevator men would go to work as individuals, no agreement having been made with the union. Provisions were irregular.

Wheat September opened at $1.24 up 1/4 and closed up 1/4 additional. December opened at $1.27, up 1/4 and closed with another advance of 1 point.

Corn September opened off 1/4 at 60 1/2 and closed off an additional 1/4. December opened unchanged at 60 1/2, and closed unchanged at 60 1/2.

Oats September opened at 38 1/2, unchanged and closed unchanged; December opened up 1/4 at 41 1/4 and closed up 1/4.

HARDING VISITS
PILGRIM PAGEANT
AT PLYMOUTH, MASS.

Great Reception Is Given Executive When He Arrives in Historic City.

By Raymond Clapper
Plymouth, Mass.,—President Harding made his pilgrimage to Plymouth Rock, one of America's oldest and most venerated shrines, Monday.

He came here to participate in observing the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the pilgrims. The president, putting off in a gig from the Mayflower, which anchored about two miles out after cutting through the Cape Cod canal early Monday, landed within 200 yards of the historic rock, resting in a sheltered cove near which the pilgrims came ashore.

The old granite boulder showed its sufferings from four removals and the concrete filling of its most recent wound was plainly visible.

At anchor, within sight of the president's yacht, rocked a replica of the original Mayflower in which the pilgrim fathers crossed the Atlantic.

Elaborate ceremonies marked the arrival of the presidential party. A thunder of 211 guns echoed over the bay as the president left the yacht.

At the pier, Governor Cox of Massachusetts and Sherman Whipple of Boston, marshal of the day, headed a large reception committee.

With the president was Mrs. Harding, who was to make her debut as an officer of the Girl Scouts. Others on the yacht were Secretary Weeks, Speaker Gillett, Senators Frelinghuysen, Hale, Phipps, Congressman Walsh, General Sawyer and Secretary Christian.

The president was to take his place immediately at the head of a civic parade. Bits of pilgrim history were pictured in the elaborate floats which followed.

The landing of the pilgrims, the visit of Chief Massasoit, the signing of the Mayflower compact and the courtship of John Alden and Priscilla were among the floats. Miss Priscilla Alden of Bridgewater, played the role of the original Priscilla, and one of John Alden's descendants had his part.

The pageant, acted by Plymouth residents, many of whom are descendants from the famous characters they portray, pictures the history of the colonizing of New England, beginning with the arrival of the Vikings in the Norse galley, a replica of which has been created out of an old fishing boat.

NEW ORDER COMING OUT OF WORLD CHAOS

royal prerogative were helped by the influences of colonial democracy.

No one ever will dispute the large part New England played in the rearing of new standards of freedom. Here, with crude narrowness and unconscious selfishness hindering, but with the supreme intent impelling, there developed the accepted plan of emanating humanity and the grant to man to shape his own destiny. The world chorus today rejoicing in maintained democracy, attuned its chord to the notes first sounded here. No American can fully appraise his country's contribution to mankind's advance if he overlooks the things which were truly fundamental in creating it.

Two Tyrannies Lost
There is some justification for the generalization that the political tyrannies of the restoration forced a religious freedom on a colonial community whose dominating minority did not want it, while the colonies wrested political freedom from the crown. The clash between the theocratic tyranny on this side and a political tyranny on the other resulted in the destruction of both, to the vast betterment of every human interest involved.

The men and women who came here to found in a wilderness, across a thousand leagues of ocean waste, a new state came with high and conscious purpose of achieving a great human end. Out of their voluminous letters, memoirs, public records and historical writings we constantly get the impression of their deep convictions that they had been called as divine instruments to accomplish a work of supremest significance.

I like to commend study of the history which began here at Plymouth. In its relations to the sweep of modern affairs. It teaches us that some times schism may lead to true solidarity; that division may mean multiplication.

The English speaking race had hardly established itself in its true character as the foremost exponent of liberal institutions, when it began to distribute itself among the wildernesses of the earth. Cromwell looked upon them as deserters, despised them as weaklings, was disgusted with himself for having once thought to unite with them.

But what would have been his amazement if he could have foreseen the destiny that awaited this feeble colonial enterprise, if he could have known that here was being founded the community that would at least inspire the forces of the old world liberalism, if he could have looked over the vista of three centuries and seen political division followed by spiritual reunion in the greater cause of liberty for all mankind.

The community of free people of our race, whether in Europe, America, in Africa or Australia, under the northern or southern skies—whether held together by political ties, or by the yet more potent bonds of common traditions, institutions, language and blood—this community, spread now to all quarters of the world, was begun when Jamestown and Plymouth were founded.

It has carried its ideals wherever it has set its standard. It has won recognition of those ideals as the basis of social conduct, of community relations, throughout the world. Its work is not finished; but, pray God, it has come triumphantly through its determining ordeal. It comes forth from that test, norved and heartened for further tasks; confident, assured, radiant. None questions either its place or its right of leadership; few doubt its destiny to establish, under that divine guidance which it has ever recognized, the splendid structure of human brotherhood in peace and understanding.

We stand today before the unknown, but we look to the future with confidence unshaken. There is no retrogression, we must forever go on.

We welcome the theories wrought out in new hope, but we cling to the assurance founded on experience. All that is not bad, all that is to be, will not be ideal. We cannot lift the veil to the future, but we can analyze and understand what has gone before. It is good to keep our feet firmly on the earth, though we gaze in high hope for human brotherhood and high attainments.

Just as the pilgrims had a practical mind for material things amid effective pursuit of their higher ideals, so must we with our inheritance. Solvent financially, sound economically, unrivaled in genius, unexcelled in industry, resolute in determination and unwavering in faith, these United States will carry on long.
